

New Teacher—Angela Abercrombie

Written by Elizabeth Barrett

Thursday, 19 August 2010 13:26 - Last Updated Thursday, 19 August 2010 13:30

Educator joins Gothenburg Public School staff

Age: 23

Subject: Special education

Education: Graduated McCook High School, 2005; received an associate degree from Mid-Plains Community College, 2007; received degrees in elementary education and special education from UNK, 2009.

Experience: Worked as special education paraprofessional at Sandoz Elementary in Lexington.

Family: Single.

Why did you want to teach at Gothenburg Public Schools: “I had heard great things about Gothenburg and the school system and how everyone wants to better the community and educational system and participates in the educational system. It was an environment in which I wanted to begin my teaching career.”

New Teacher—Angela Abercrombie

Written by Elizabeth Barrett

Thursday, 19 August 2010 13:26 - Last Updated Thursday, 19 August 2010 13:30

Her story: During her senior year of high school, Abercrombie was a teacher's aid for fifth graders. She enjoyed helping struggling readers and decided to pursue a degree in special education.

Hobbies: Reading, hanging out, taking long walks, playing tennis and spending time with family and friends.