Gothenburg's RTI Technology Solutions moved from 717 8th St. to 812 Lake Ave..

RTI co-owner Koby Rickersten said they decided to relocate because the business needed more space.

“We wanted a downtown presence and a bigger store front,” Rickersten said. “We were growing and it was time to move to a downtown location.”

At its old location, RTI shared a building with Skyview Transportation Inc.

The process of making room for a computer services company was a challenge, said owner of Koch-Struction Jeremy Koch who started remodeling the building in July.

He said it has been a complete remodel of the workspace. A racquetball court that was turned into a dance studio had to be demolished and a hallway was widened for handicap accessibility.

“We completely gutted the place,” Koch said. “There is new plumbing in the back of the building and new electrical wiring throughout.”

With a new building and new layout indoors, RTI isn't changing on the business side.

Office manager Sureyma Wozny said RTI will continue to offer networking, cloud kits for electronics and anti-virus programs along with becoming a retailer for Verizon Wireless.
