Brady taxpayers will pay 84 cents less per $100,000 in property value for the coming budget year.

Village officials recognize that's not much of a tax break for residents but point out it's not an increase either.

The village board of trustees approved the 2010-11 budget, tax request and levy during their regular monthly meeting on Sept. 8.

Operating expenses are expected at $390,050 with a tax request of $63,630.

A unanimous vote came after a public hearing in which no residents spoke.

The budget is $6,450 lower than last year but still allows for money to be saved in reserve.

In other business, trustees voted to change a village ordinance which previously set the due date for resident water, sewer and trash bills
