With only a couple of starters returning from last year's 19-4 Brady boys basketball team, second-year coach David Jacobs has a lot of unanswered questions.

"We're probably going to be feeling our way for little awhile," Jacobs said. "We'll definitely be a lot different team toward the end of the season."

In the meantime, there will likely be a few growing pains as the Eagles work to replace two of the top three scorers and rebounders from a year ago as well as a host of playing experience.

"It's a new year and a new team," the coach said. "We're going to build around the experience we do have and find a new identity."

Guards Zach Mann and Bryley Roper, both seniors, provide the core for the Eagles as returning starters.

Classmates Michael Neiman and Cole Viter offer a small amount of experience.

"We're probably going to see a lot of opponents key on Zach and Bryley," Jacobs said. "That means we need some new guys to step up and I think we will see that."

Exactly who that will be is one of those unanswered questions.

"It's always fun for me as a coach to watch the kids develop," Jacobs said. "There's always that Several teams in the Sandhills Conference were young last season and will come back with loads of experience.

Jacobs expects Sandhills/Thedford to come in as the conference favorite with Stapleton/McPherson County being much improved and Mullen offering athletic players.

The D2-9 sub-district includes Anselmo-Merna, Bertrand, Brady, Eustis-Farnam and Loomis.

Jacobs said Loomis will be a tough team and both Anselmo-Merna and Eustis-Farnam should be improved with Bertrand always developing solid athletes.

"We're looking forward to seeing how the year unfolds," the coach said.

Brady opens the season on Friday at Wauneta-Palisade, a team that went 11-11 last year.

Tipoff is set for 7:30 p.m.
