

Quadhamer earns scholarship through speech competition

Written by Deb Egenberger
Friday, 01 February 2013 14:44 -

By placing sixth in serious prose during the Kevin Heineman Memorial speech tournament at Hastings College on Jan. 19, Brady senior Sierra Quadhamer earned scholarship money to attend the college.

Quadhamer was the only Brady competitor to place at the meet. She also competed in the poetry division.

Other Brady students participating were Brandon Montgomery, Mike Adams, Lexi Franzen and Madison Elliott.

In addition to the speech contest, teams also competed in a fund-raising effort called "Hunger Games."

Brady students and staff raised $55 toward the cause, pushing the team to third place in the event.

All proceeds of the fund raiser will be donated to National Poverty Awareness.